

New York, April 2 (AP)—American invasion forces have started landings on Kume Island, about 60 miles west of Okinawa and west of the Kerama group, a Tokyo broadcast reported by the Blue network said today.

By ELMONT WAITE
Guam, April 2 (AP)—Thousands of U. S. Tenth Army infantrymen and Marines invaded strategic Okinawa—325 miles from Japan proper—Easter morning at little cost and found the going still surprisingly easy as they pushed eastward toward the important Nakagusuku bay fleet anchorage.

The "anks went ashore on the west at 8:30 a. m. yesterday (6:30 p. m. Saturday, Eastern War Time), quickly captured two airfields and a dozen virtually deserted villages and towns. By nightfall they had carved out a beachhead three miles deep at points on an isthmus eight miles wide, Adm. Chester R. Nimitz announced today.

Front reports said a third airstrip—unidentified—also was seized.

The Yank invaders walked inland from the beaches 200 yards or more without once having to seek shelter.

Tough fighting is expected, however, as the Japanese reorganize for defense. The enemy, surprised by invasion of Okinawa's western shore near Katena after a 10-day bombing and bombardment of his eastern shore defenses, was expected to fight fanatically from prepared positions, probably in the low hills in the center of the island. Estimates of Japanese strength on Okinawa range from 60,000 to 100,000 troops.

"Victory Assumed"
Size of the Yank invasion force was not announced but, too, numbered perhaps 100,000.

"Final, decisive victory is assured," Nimitz declared as he personally read his Sunday communique announcing the invasion. But he warned that Japan itself still must be conquered.

Capture of Okinawa will afford airfields for intensified aerial neutralization of the empire's home airfields and continued devastation of its war vital industrial centers.

"It is difficult to over-emphasize the importance of this operation," asserted Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., commander of the 10th Army. His command comprises the 24th Army Corps and the Marine Third Amphibious Corps, made up of probably six divisions—all veterans of Pacific fighting.

Greatest Operation of Kind
Okinawa is only 325 air miles southwest of Kyushu, southernmost of the Japanese home islands; 365 northeast of Formosa, 750 from Luzon and 400 from the China coast.

Nakagusuku Bay would afford the Pacific fleet a new advanced base. Virtual control of the east China Sea and a much tighter blockade around Japan's sea lanes to the southwest also are in prospect.

Invasion of Okinawa was the greatest amphibious operation of the Pacific war. Nimitz placed 1,400 ships of all types at the disposal of Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, commander of the Fifth Fleet and tactical commander of the Okinawa operation, while Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, commander of the world's largest carrier task force, had 1,500 naval planes.

American troops went ashore across coral reefs and through shell-blasted seawalls along eight miles (Please Turn to Page 2)

RED CROSS FUND TOPS $30,000; EXPECT $33,000

Indications were today that Adams county's 1945 Red Cross War Fund will reach the record-breaking total of $33,000—a sum $5,000 over the $28,000 goal which was the highest in the chapter's history.

The chapter office was swamped with reports all day Saturday and leaders said today that additional official reports of district collection chairmen are yet to be received. The official total reported to noon today was $30,461.99, but the anticipated additional collections probably will total $3,500, it was calculated.

No official report has yet been received from Dr. Burnell Grimm, Hampton, chairman of the East Berlin district, although he announced last Friday that incomplete collections in that area amounted to $1,400 at that time. The office had not yet received the check for the $934.61 collected during the Red Cross drive in the two local motion picture theaters, and other additional collections were expected from the Littlestown and McSherrystown districts which already have turned in first reports.

$1,539 From York Springs
The York Springs district led the contributions recorded Saturday with donations totalling $1,539. Second on the list was McSherrystown with a total of $1,369.27, while Fairfield reported $970.10, with New Oxford recorded an additional $650.45. The Bonneauville district sent in $200 to add to the fund. Other smaller donations were received from individuals and numerous other districts.

Leading the McSherrystown donations were gifts of $100 each from the Cannon Shoe company and Mrs. Peter Smith. The Amalgamated Clothing workers in the town gave $92.27 while the Fraternal Order of Eagles gave $25 and the FOE Home association made a gift of $20. Mrs. Catherine Christensen also gave $20.

The Daughters of Isabella gave $10 to the fund and the National Council of Catholic Women, the Holy Name society and the Arch-confraternity of the Passion gave $5 each. A $2 gift was made by the Homemakers' club.

Ten dollar gifts were received from M. D. Crouse, Charles Myers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Yake, Jr., and S. E. Kritchman.

Workers at the chapter office were unable to prepare a complete list of individual contributors from the York Springs, Fairfield, Bonneauville, and New Oxford districts for today, and those names will be published later.

The Gettysburg Water company also gave $50 and the Biglerville Water company made a $10 donation. Sgt. Ted Keefer gave $5 "in (Please Turn to Page 2)

March Record: Rye In Heads

The March heat added another mark to its record locally when rye heads were discovered Friday on the farm of J. Allen Kane, near Fairfield.

WIND STORM CAUSES DAMAGE HERE SATURDAY

A sudden wind storm which travelled chiefly through the western and northern portions of the county late Saturday afternoon caused temporary dislocation of electric light and telephone service in the Fairfield and Arendtsville sections.

Some damage was reported also from falling limbs of ornamental shade and orchard trees and stripped the early-opened blossoms from fruit trees. At least one barn was unroofed by the winds.

Officials at the Metropolitan Edison company here reported that several poles carrying electric lines were down and that falling limbs had put down an additional number of wires. Arendtsville was without electric lights for several hours during the evening and in the Arendtsville National bank business was carried on by flashlight.

At Fairfield, electric lines and telephone lines also were down, but service was restored in several hours. The local telephone office reported that "about six" poles carrying telephone wires were down in the Fairfield section and one pole was down along the Harrisburg road.

While the damage was not serious in Gettysburg, a number of tree limbs broke, and a magnolia tree was blown over in the National cemetery.

Heavy rain accompanied the windstorm.

Bruce Cline, Carmen Elicker and Clarence Stonesifer, York Springs, returning from York Saturday evening, were caught in the storm near Dillsburg. Their car was blown off the highway down an embankment. All were slightly injured. Elicker had several ribs fractured.

Part of the shed roof on the Earl Guise farm, Straban township, was blown off.

Invader

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr. (below), commands the new J.S. 10th Army, comprising American soldiers and Marines, which made amphibious landings on Okinawa island, 325 miles southwest of southern Kyushu, one of the Japanese home islands, it was announced April 1.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Lieutenant General Simon Bolivar Buckner, former commander of American troops in the Aleutians and who leads the invasion forces on Okinawa, in the Ryukyu, 325 miles from the Jap mainland, has not only frequently visited Gettysburg but is a student of the Gettysburg campaign. His father was a famous Confederate officer in the Civil War.

General Krueger, who led the invasion forces onto Luzon, in the Philippines, under General MacArthur, is another keen student of the three days' Battle of Gettysburg. He has also visited here frequently. He was Commanding General at Fort George G. Meade and his executive officer was Major (Now Colonel) Hugh C. Gilchrist who was executive officer for Colonel Frederick W. Manley here in 1938. Colonel Gilchrist was also executive officer for General Krueger when the first U. S. Armored Division was organized in Texas.

Reds Battle Near Vienna; Other Gains

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, April 2 (AP)—Russian forces battled for Neudorf, three miles east of the Messerschmitt assembly center of Wiener Neustadt in Austria today.

Other Soviet columns smashed within 20 miles of Vienna and drove hard against Germans in the Bratislava gap.

(London dispatches said the Bratislava radio went silent and unconfirmed reports said the Russians had made a 13-mile dash to the outskirts of that capital of the puppet state of Slovakia less than 30 miles east of Vienna.)

Many Prisoners
Spearheads of Marshal Fedor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army pounced on captured Sopron on the Neusiedler See and Wiener Neustadt, and pushed into the Liechtenstein mountains farther north. The Russians drove within eight miles of Wiener Neustadt, and were only four miles from the vital railway linking Vienna with northern Italy.

East of Bratislava, troops of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army were moving down the Karpaty mountains, west of Trnava and within 12 miles of the capital of the puppet state of Slovakia.

Another Russian column fought for the railway junction of Lantschütz, only eight and a half miles east of Bratislava and five miles west of Szenc.

More than 32,150 Nazi prisoners surrendered in the last 24 hours as Tolbukhin advanced 15 miles yesterday in one of the swiftest operations of the war on the eastern front.

Paris, April 2 (AP)—The American First and Ninth Armies have trapped 21 divisions of 110,000 first line enemy troops in the Ruhr and the British Second Army, driving swiftly northeast, threatened today to throw a noose about another whole army group in Holland, reducing German strength in the west by two thirds.

The Ninth Army has driven 100 miles east of the Rhine, well past the Ruhr and its vast steel and coal works.

The Third Army, rambling swiftly and almost at will over Central Germany, crashed into Kassel and Fulda and drove within 155 miles of Berlin and 198 of the Russian lines in the east in a mighty campaign to bisect Germany.

The British Second Army, wheeling toward the north German ports, plunged to the outskirts of Lengerich, 20 miles northeast of the Westphalian capital of Muenster and 122 from Hamburg. Lengerich is 74 miles from Bremen and 217 from Berlin.

UNUSUAL MARCH WEATHER SET 38-YR. RECORD

April began its "fooling" today with heavy gray skies and a promise of traditional showers after providing Adams countians with fair weather galore for Easter Sunday.

The weather book for March closed Saturday on high winds and rising temperatures as one of the most unusual spring months in local weather history came to an end.

March provided three weeks of fair weather usually reserved for April and later months and brought the warmest March day in nearly 40 years. The official records of Dr. Henry Stewart, local weather observer, showed that the maximum reading of 86 degrees last Thursday was the warmest March day since March 23, 1907.

Short on Rainfall
The unusual fair weather brought about a deficiency of 2.09 inches of precipitation for the month. The total rainfall was 1.60 inches. The greatest amount for any one day was on March 7 when a total of 44 inches fell. There were 12 days when 0.1 inches or more of precipitation fell and three days when 25 inches or more fell.

Eighteen days were recorded as clear, seven as partly cloudy and six as cloudy. Minimum temperatures of 32 degrees or below were registered for nine days. The lowest temperature for any one day was 28 degrees on March 8. There were killing frosts on March 2, 5, 8, 9, 11, 12 and 24. Doctor Stewart's records showed.

Only one day, last Thursday, was listed as having a high wind, and the mean temperature for the month was given as 48.58 degrees. The mean maximum was listed as 66.5 degrees and the mean minimum was given as 40.4 degrees.

William H. Allison, superintendent of the National cemetery, reported today that tourist traffic over the battlefield Easter Sunday was the highest to date for the year although far below travel of pre-war days.

Redbud blossoms on the battlefield have begun to open and will be in full bloom by the end of the week if warm weather continues. Dogwood is expected to bloom about the same time.

NAMES VINSON TO TAKE PLACE OF J. F. BYRNES

Washington, April 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt accepted today the resignation of James F. Byrnes as director of War Mobilization and Reconversion, and picked Fred M. Vinson to succeed him.

Byrnes will stay on the job until Vinson's nomination is approved by the senate. Then he will break Vinson into his new duties.

It was the second change of jobs for Vinson in less than a month. On March 6 he was nominated Federal Loan administrator. Prior to that date he was director of Economic stabilization.

Is Ex-Judge

Byrnes had submitted his resignation on March 24, while preparing a report to President Roosevelt and congress which outlined the plans he has developed for reconversion after Germany's collapse.

The report was dated yesterday and Byrnes had hoped to leave office today.

Vinson worked closely with Byrnes while serving as stabilization director.

Before that, Vinson was a judge on the Federal circuit court of appeals for the District of Columbia. Earlier he served a long term as a representative from Kentucky.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was with "heartfelt regret" that he had received Byrnes' resignation.

Western Front

Eisenhower's nine armies charging east of the Rhine, had been caught in the Ruhr trap, closed yesterday by the First and Ninth armies.

Even as the fate of this whole fighting force was sealed, General Eisenhower's communique in an unusual revelation of the course of the developing campaign declared flatly that the cleanup "will not preclude the advance of Allied armored columns farther into Germany."

That swift advance was well underway.

Patch Near Nuernberg

General Patton's Third Army had armor less than 160 miles from the battered capital of Germany. Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch had Seventh Army tanks within 45 miles of the Nazi congress city of Nuernberg (pop. 431,000) where he could cut one of the two main trunklines from Berlin through Munich to the Brenner Pass.

The German communique reported fighting in the Teutoburg forest "on both sides of Bielefeld" and along the Dutch frontier between the lower Rhine and Enschede, 106 miles from Wilhelmshaven and 98 from Bremen.

Strong attacks near Munster (143,748) were declared repelled. The American Ninth Army was reported officially by the foe to be fighting fiercely for the Ruhr industrial city of Recklinghausen (87,000). Allied advances in the Rhine plain south of Heidelberg were reported. The Germans said the American Seventh Army had reached the Bruchsal area, 37 miles northwest of Stuttgart (460,000), outflanking Karlsruhe (189,085) at a point 12 miles northeast.

The third Army drive across the waist of Germany was bisecting the Reich and had reached within a half hour flying time of the Russians.

Police Investigate Two Auto Crashes

State police from the local substation investigated two accidents over the week-end—one at Twin Bridges on the Harrisburg road and the other on the Arendtsville-McKnightstown road.

A sedan driven by Mrs. Paul R. Fissel, Arendtsville, collided with a car driven by Clinton J. Welkert, Washington street, Saturday afternoon at the intersection of the Arendtsville-Mummasburg road and the McKnightstown road about a mile south of Arendtsville. Damage to the Fissel machine amounted to about $30 and Welkert's car was damaged to the extent of about $45, police said.

The second accident occurred about 2 o'clock Sunday morning when a sedan driven by Orville J. Jacoby, Jr., Gettysburg R. 4, ran off the highway near Twin Bridges and struck a utilities pole. Damage to Jacoby's car amounted to about $100 and the pole was damaged to the extent of $50. Police said Jacoby was reported to have fallen asleep.

Miss Marian Menchey led in the reading of the Easter story and prayer. The Primary department under the direction of Mrs. C. Robert Deardorff sang an Easter song. The nine young people who joined the church on Palm Sunday recited their class hymn "Jesus, I Live to Thee" and the church choir under the direction of Miss Alice Snyder sang "Alleluia." Mrs. C. T. Ziegler gave an Easter story "Victorious Living."

The 52 members of the church who are in the armed forces were remembered in a special ceremony conducted by Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler while Miss Jeanne Spangler accompanied with soft piano music. Daniel Hoffman had charge of the altar and Jack Moser conducted the offering ceremony. A check was taken on church attendance during the Lenten season and it was found that a number of people had not missed one service during that time. The school stood to honor T. J. Winebrenner who during the week observed a birthday anniversary and who for many years was superintendent of the school and is now in charge of attendance work.

GEORGE N. RUTH KILLED IN FALL FROM WINDOW

George N. Ruth, 50, of East Berlin R. 3, died late Saturday afternoon at the Union Memorial hospital in Baltimore after either falling or jumping from a fourth floor window of the institution, where he was awaiting a brain operation.

Mr. Ruth had entered the hospital last Wednesday after suffering a head injury in a fall on his farm and was to have been operated on Saturday afternoon, police reported.

Dr. Willard L. Quennell, superintendent of the hospital, said that the man had been noticeably despondent since his admittance to the institution.

The superintendent reported that Mr. Ruth had been visited by a nurse in his fourth-floor room about 1 o'clock Saturday morning and found to be in bed and resting comfortably, although awake.

When an orderly entered the room ten minutes later, Doctor Quennell said, the door leading to the sun porch was open and Mr. Ruth had disappeared.

Body in Well

Mr. Ruth was found in a brick well outside a cellar window, a few feet below street level. He was found to have suffered fractures to one shoulder and arm and additional head injuries.

The Baltimore city medical examiner was called in on the case and was conducting an examination over the week-end.

A retired farmer, he lived in the East Berlin vicinity his entire life. He was a member of the Anooka No. 525 IORM, LaBott.

California, attended the Blue and Gray Reunion here in 1938.

Addition of "pulpwood hauling and cutting" to the National Production Urgency List becomes increasingly significant with the release this week of the monthly report of the Forest Products Bureau of the War Production Board, revealing that Appalachian mill receipts of domestic pulpwood last month were 32 per cent below receipts in February of 1944.

Termining the Appalachian situation "critical," WPB disclosed that mill receipts of domestic pulpwood during the month in this area were only 84,000 cords. Imports during the same period brought the total up to 85,200 cords.

"Accumulations of heavy wet snows and other weather conditions," were blamed by WPB for the showing in this area.

With all U. S. mills getting only 1,233,400 cords of domestic pulpwood in February, receipts for the nation tumbled to nine per cent below the total receipts of February, 1944. Despite imports of 116,900 cords of pulpwood last month, over-all mill receipts show a decline of 11 per cent below the 1944 level.

The serious nature of these declines is stressed by the addition of pulpwood hauling and cutting to the Production Urgency List, which is reserved for programs that have fallen so far behind schedule that balanced war production is threatened in such a manner as to interfere with military operations.

of Okinawa's west coast between Katdena and the capital city of Naha, population 66,000. They quickly secured their beachheads and pushed ahead into rolling country and low hills.

By shortly after noon, they had captured Katdena and Yontan air-dromes. Yontan, only 2 1/2 miles north of Katdena, has three 2,500-yard strips. By mid-afternoon, crews had begun repairing runways on both. Frontline dispatches said both probably could be in operation in a few days.

Okinawa has another operable airfield, Naha, about 18 miles to the south, and three others under construction.

As the Marines and doughboys moved inland—up to three miles at several points—they captured a dozen virtually-deserted towns and villages. One of these was Chatan, described as sizable.

And as they pushed on, landing craft were sending their cargoes of ammunition and supplies to the beaches. Some artillery was landed.

All of this occurred on D-Day—the most successful D-Day in central Pacific war history.

quota set for the nation in 1945, and stressing the fact that only 10 months remain to reach this goal, the Forest Products Bureau stated:

"Each farmer and wood cutter must cut pulpwood to the best of his ability if the staggering amounts of pulp and paper products needed for our armed forces are to be produced in 1945."

The need for immediate increased production of peeled pines and hardwoods in the Appalachian areas was also emphasized.

GARDEN DRILL HELPS LAY OUT VEGETABLE BED

To make a garden drill you need stakes and a heavy cord. These are as necessary in laying out a Victory garden as in laying out a house.

The entire garden should be outlined so that the rows can be squared with the boundaries. Then place stakes for the first row, and stretch a line between them.

Having stretched the line, what comes next? Seeds are sown in rows either in drills, or hills. A drill in a shallow continuous trench, while a hill is not an elevation, except in localities where the rainfall is heavy. It usually means a spot where several seeds are sown in a group, with the groups spaced at equal intervals in the row.

Careful Sowing Is Rewarded By Harvest

By careful sowing, Victory gardeners can save not only seed, but much labor of thinning out excess plants. And because so many fail to thin out properly, disliking the idea of destroying young plants, thin sowing in the first place is a big contribution to quality crops.

Fear of poor stands is often the cause of sowing too thickly. The gardener who has seen blank spaces in the row, where no seedlings grew when he sowed thickly, is tempted to insure an every stand by sowing thickly.

But there is a better way. When the seed has been sown, in heavy soil, prepare a special soil to cover it. Mix the finest soil you have, preferably rich in humus, with one half sand, and cover with this. Peat moss will supply the humus, and in hot weather a covering with peat moss alone will give excellent results.

In sowing, take seeds in the fingers and drop them evenly. This is a job you can afford to bend down to.

Important. You often read that seeds should be sown to a depth of four times their diameter. But no one tries to measure so exactly. A good general rule is to use the corner of a hoe to make a trench for small seeds, about half an inch deep. Don't try to measure its depth, because gardening is not so precise as that. Just be sure it is as shallow a trench as you can make.

The main thing is to make it straight, and that is easy if your hoe is sharp and your touch is light. Just think of your hoe as a pencil and the cord as a rule, and draw a straight line in the loose garden soil the length of the row. A little practice will make you perfect.

Modern practice favors shallow sowing; half an inch for the small seeds, one to two inches for peas, beans and corn, and three inches for onion sets to grow spring onions.

The sea lavender, Statice latifolia, needs plenty of room, all the light it can get and fresh air to develop its full beauty.

A leggy privet hedge can be cut back close to the ground in spring just before growth starts and it will develop a thick new growth from the base.

Things Of The Soil

By DAN F. VAN GORDER

The Gettysburg Times Agricultural Editor

Questions of our readers on lawns, flowers, vegetable growing, poultry, fruit, livestock and general agriculture will be answered by return personal letter without charges if a 3-cent stamp is enclosed.

Address Letters To

The Gettysburg Times Agricultural Editor

Box 1528, Washington, D. C.

April—Lawn, Garden, Farm

1. "Carefully examine if anything necessary to be done last month were omitted." This is quoted from an old English book on gardening, published 186 years ago. Still good advice.

2. Be ready to apply the delayed-dormant spray for apples when buds show silvery green and before they open.

3. Early April chicks make October layers. The editor will gladly answer all questions on poultry problems.

4. Kaye, turnip tops, beet tops and dandelion greens are among the richest carriers of the valuable vitamin A.

5. There are a score or more of easily grown annual flowers which may be started this month.

6. Make a second planting of garden peas, beets, radishes and leaf lettuce.

Plant Evergreens

7. Gladiolus cornus may be planted now.

8. Substitute honey for sugar, especially white sugar, whenever possible in the family diet.

9. To keep roses healthy, dust them weekly with the well-known Massey dust (one part arsenate of lead and nine parts superfine sulphur).

10. Start a few extra early cucumber under glass by sowing seed in individual pots or plant pans.

11. Fence permanent pastures into three or four equal plots and rotate livestock to double pasture returns all summer.

12. Evergreens may be safely planted now. Keep root mass burled and moist before planting.

13. Ask the editor for a copy of our white grub control information if these pests are numerous in garden or field.

14. Have plenty of martin houses ready when the friendly insect-devouring birds return within the next week.

Mow the Grass Early

15. At least one raw (uncooked) vegetable daily is a sound rule of diet for spring and summer as well as for winter.

16. Include a liberal bed of herbs in the garden.

17. Mow the lawn before grass gets tall. Let clippings lie. They mulch the soil and help conserve moisture.

18. If carrots have not already been started, sow at least a few rows today.

19. Seed rape this week for poultry, turkey and hog pasture.

20. Do not omit plans for garden beans because of the Mexican bean beetle. This invader can be fully controlled.

21. Straight rows cost American farmers millions of dollars annually. Make rows according to slope contour to save soil.

22. Serve rhubarb frequently throughout its season, for this is one of the most healthful of all garden crops.

23. Combat plant lice promptly whenever they appear on any ornamental or food plants. Do not allow them to become numerous.

24. A stout hoe or mattock and considerable patience are the most effective weapons for solving the the soil, and if the earth becomes hard, roots will choke. Let the roots get plenty of air. Stir the soil frequently—once a week is not too often for the first month after sowing.

After a garden is watered, the soil is likely to become packed. By cultivating to a depth of two inches, the water will get down where it is needed to the roots.

All of which brings up another point. In watering, it is better to water thoroughly two or three times a week than to sprinkle the soil daily. Don't be afraid of drenching the soil after the seedlings are up. The roots need the water, and a light hosing is almost worthless.

But cultivate regularly. Keep the surface soil pulverized. It will pay you in better vegetables.

Hand Weeding

The two previous Garden Graphs have discussed cultivation of soil around the rows of vegetables seedlings. After the plants have grown to a size sufficient to permit thinning out, there will be considerable space between plants. It is then that cultivation in the rows themselves should be started.

For this work, a hoe is likely to be impracticable. A hand weeder should be used. Bear in mind that roots of plants spread as the plants develop. Deep cultivation may cut

Garden Graphs

The gardener who thinks he can sit back in an easy chair once he has put his seeds in the ground, and eventually find a varied array of vegetables on his table and jars on his pantry shelves, is due for a rude awakening. Eternal weeding is the price of a successful victory garden, and should be started within a week of seeding.

In turning over the soil, the gardener removes clumps of weeds and roots, but he cannot get rid of the weed seeds.

Though no sprouts will be visible in the carefully seeded rows, there will be tiny shoots all over the plot. Use a hoe and get rid of all weed sprouts not in the furrows, between the row-marking cords.

It will be possible now to get close to the rows because the seeds haven't started to come up yet; later, this close cultivation will be impossible, lest the vegetable seedlings be damaged.

It's easier to get rid of the weeds at this stage than later.

Stirring the Soil

Cultivation of the victory garden is essential for more reasons than elimination of weeds. It is important that the soil near the rows be kept loose to allow air to get down to the roots and to conserve moisture.

Cultivation of the victory garden is essential for more reasons than elimination of weeds. It is important that the soil near the rows be kept loose to allow air to get down to the roots and to conserve moisture.

Where plants are grown in hills, as in the case of cucumbers, get rid of weeds by pulling them out. Don't use a weeder, as there is danger of damaging the plant roots. However, a hoe may be used in cultivating the soil around the hills.

Just Folks

APRIL FOOL
Was my pocket torn? Oh no!
I pretended it was so.
Though I knew beyond a doubt
"April Fool!" I'd hear them shout.

Saw a purse, and with a grin,
I bent down to take it in.
From my hand 'twas snatched away.
"April Fool!" I heard them say.

Grandma, wise and calm and cool,
Chuckled softly: "Such a fool!
Not one day alone, I mean;
Such a fool you've always been!"

"Right," says I, "From sun to sun
I am foolish, but it's fun!
Just to have them laugh at me,
Such a fool I'll always be."

Today's Talk

SPRING IN THE HEART

Springtime comes like a refreshing shower, giving drink to the sleepy earth, bathing the branches and roots of the trees, calling the birds back to their northern homes, and inviting the buried buds to come out and welcome the warm sunshine.

No festival of the year is so bursting in its beauty or so lavish in its preparation for new beginnings. As I write, I view from my library window the first robins of the year. They are happily scampering over the moist earth for the food they so well know how to get. A little run, then a pause, then another run—and, behold, they have the worm! Wonder of wonders, how do they know? Not instinct, surely, but God-given intelligence, about which we know nothing.

But of all the beauty and wonder that Springtime brings, it brings nothing more glorious than what it pours in human hearts—putting the Springtime there!

If you watch carefully, you will see this revival in people's faces, in their brisk walk, in the look of their eyes, and in the attitude toward their work. Unconsciously they have opened the door of their hearts—to let the Springtime in!

It is easy to understand why poets select this season for their songs of love and beauty. It's in the air! It's in the blood—and it's in the heart. Said Shakespeare:

"O! how this spring of love resembles
The uncertain glory of an April day!"

There is a rainbow of birth clear across the skies of Spring. The new breath of life is evident everywhere. It's a hopeful season, as well, for where there is new life, there is always a joyful activity—a genuine gaiety of the soul. How reverent we should be these beautiful Spring days, as we see the handiwork of the Creator unfolding before our eyes—miracles of beauty and wonder.

With Spring in our heart we can partake of many a heavenly vision, and move hopefully toward our every objective.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Debtors."

17-Year Locusts To Come In 15 Counties

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—The 17-year-old locusts are due back in 15 Pennsylvania counties next month. Dr. A. B. Champlain, entomologist of the state Department of Agriculture said "There can be no advance estimate of the number of locusts that will appear or the damage they may inflict on trees."

He added that "the most serious damage is likely to be on young fruit trees near forest areas."

Counties where brood 11 are expected are Berks, Bucks, Chester, Dauphin, Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia, Pike, Potter, Schuylkill, and Wyoming.

The average flea can jump about eight inches.

TUG-OF-WAR ON ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE

Harrisburg, April 2 (AP)—A tug-of-war developed today over an administration drive for adjournment of the Legislature this month with the Democratic minority opposed to any move to quit before key needs are met.

Governor Martin, with only a few of his major recommendations urging into law so far, was reported entering his legislative lieutenants to aim for final adjournment by April 21 with some leaders admitting privately that May 1 is more likely.

With three months of the 1945 session gone, the legislative box score on Martin's recommendations showed:

Enactment of laws advancing the primary from September 11 to June 19, liberalizing Commonwealth banking and building and loan codes to permit full federal G. I. loans to servicemen for homes, farms or small businesses and continuing three of the five emergency taxes.

The House-approved Brunner anti-pollution bill—key measure of the Governor's campaign to clean up Pennsylvania streams—was in position for a vote in the Senate in amended form, while a House committee continued consideration of a companion municipal authorities measure, passed by the Senate last week.

Status of Other Measures
A vote was due in the House on the administration housing program to permit life insurance companies to invest 10 per cent of their assets in homes and allow cities and counties to set up redevelopment authorities to improve blighted areas.

Bills to carry out a third major Martin recommendation—liberalization of the state's compensation laws—were prepared for introduction in the Senate but without prior agreement on increased benefits by labor and industry.

Still bogged down in committees or facing strong opposition in the closely-divided House were majority proposals to earmark specifically $117,600,000 from the $170,000,000 state treasury surplus for postwar construction and appropriate $48,870,000 to liquidate bonds of the general state authority.

Continuation of the corporate net income tax for another two years still needs House agreement to Senate amendments.

School Bonus Shelved

A proposal to re-enact the one cent emergency tax on gasoline permanently and make grants from receipts to municipalities has been stalemated for weeks by a strong demand in the majority ranks that all the revenues of the levy be given cities, boroughs and townships for road work.

A Martin proposal to extend for two more years a $27,000,000 cost-of-living bonus to school teachers was shelved in favor of a school commission plan that teacher salary scales be increased permanently.

Tied up in the House education committee with the other school bills was a measure to carry out the governor's recommendation for thousands of state four-year competitive college scholarships. A Senate committee has yet to release a House-approved plan for complete medical and dental tests for school children urged as a health measure by the governor.

Atrocities

Feb. 8, captured in the Intramuros by 14th Corps soldiers:
"When Filipinos are to be killed, they must be gathered into one place and be disposed of with the consideration of ammunition and manpower must not be used to excess. Because the disposal of dead bodies is a troublesome task, they should be gathered into houses which are scheduled to be burned or demolished. They should also be thrown into the river."

Record Of Brutal Treatment

A diary, presumably belonging to a member of the Akatsuki force in Manila and captured by 14th corps troops, contained the following items:

"Feb. 3—150 guerrillas were disposed of tonight. I personally stabbed and killed 10.

"Feb. 8—Guarded 1,164 guerrillas newly brought in today.

"Feb. 9—Burned 1,000 guerrillas to death tonight."

Some of the cases rival the most brutal of history's inquisitions and tortures. Perhaps the most horrible is contained in the report of atrocities at Fort Santiago, inside the Intramuros, sworn to by Col. J. D. Frederick, commander of the 129th Infantry of the 37th division.

Probing in the rubble of the destroyed fort, Frederick and his men found a dungeon-like room partially below the ground whose only exit were sealed by two seven-foot steel doors bolted from the outside.

Inside, they found the decomposing bodies of between 250 and 300 oriental civilians. The only window in the five-foot thick walls was partially sealed.

Frederick thinks most of the victims starved to death, but that some of them suffocated. Thirty bodies were sprawled around the steel doors. They died trying to force the doors.

Throughout the Intramuros Frederick and his men found smaller piles of corpses, of both sexes, many with their hands bound and bearing bayonet wounds.

Several army doctors attested to treating numerous women and children—some small babies—for bayonet wounds. They said most of these told them they had survived group killings by Japanese.

Americans Agree On Free World Press

New York, April 2 (AP)—The United States' one war aim which is universally accepted by Americans, says Fortune magazine, is worldwide freedom of the press.

"Furthermore, (and perhaps more important)," says this publication in its current issue, "freedom of the press is the one and only war aim which the U. S. officially and unofficially, is campaigning for, regardless of whether or not the other United Nations approve of it."

Referring to the committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors now touring foreign capitals, Fortune asserts:

"This was the first and only group of American citizens permitted to leave the country to campaign officially for an American idea since the war."

Reviewing support of the objective by Secretary of State Stettinius, former Secretary Hull, endorsements by Congress, by both political parties, efforts of the State Department in France and China, and writings by American international experts, the article sums up with, "all agree on—and energetically promote—world-wide press freedom."

CURFEW, RACING BAN TO GO OFF AFTER V-E DAY

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Told officially that victory in Europe "is in sight," Americans had this double promise today from War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes:

1. The midnight curfew, the brown-out and the horse racing ban will be lifted promptly when that victory comes. Gasoline rations may be increased slightly.

2. Otherwise reconversion at home will be slowly-paced; we will not eat as well this year, and price, wage and rationing controls, as well as "the present high rate of taxes," must be continued until Japan is beaten.

Civilians to Get Goods
Byrnes' quarterly report to Congress on war mobilizations and reconversion, made public Saturday night, disclosed that:

Twenty per cent of the resources now going to war will be released for civilian goods in three months after V-E Day, 30 per cent in nine months, and civilians can expect some new automobiles within a year.

Spending for war will drop about one-third, to $60,000,000,000 a year. But the fight ahead against "a fanatic foe" strongly entrenched in the Pacific means "full speed ahead on war production."

AP Photographer Wins High Award

New York, April 2 (AP)—Joe Rosenthal, Associated Press photographer, yesterday received the Graflex Diamond award as the year's outstanding press photographer.

Rosenthal was cited for "outstanding devotion to duty in photographing the Pacific war in general, and more specifically, for his now-famous picture of the flag raising on Mount Suribachi, Iwo Jima." The picture has been made the official insignia of the Seventh war loan.

Hint Postponement Of Security Confab

London, April 2 (AP)—The British Press hinted today of the possible postponement of the World Security conference in San Francisco scheduled to open April 25.

The London Daily Sketch suggested the postponement editorially while the Yorkshire Post—with which Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's family is connected—said that such a delay "would be scarcely surprising."

Leaves From Diary Of War Correspondent

By HAL BOYLE

In Germany—(AP)—What do civilians do when their country is invaded? That question used to puzzle Maj. James A. Alexander, former Jackson, Miss., attorney. After riding for three days with an armored spearhead thrusting through Germany he knows the answer.

"They try to do what they did before," he said. "And keep the war out of their lives as much as possible. Farmwives put out their laundry as usual and try to get their husbands in from the fields in time for dinner. Farmers go right on plowing their fields and milking their cows, and their kids come out in the front yard to watch the parade go by."

Of course, if shells are dropping nearby, things don't stay as normal. You can't overlook a war when it sets your house afire or tumbles it around you ears.

Officers Quit Quickly

High-ranking German officers don't hesitate to fly the white flag personally when it comes time to give up. In one group of German officers near Limburg, several were wearing white cloths to show they were eager to surrender personally.

At Montauban when an entire German garrison fled out to become prisoners of war they took their wives and belongings with them. At the gate of the prisoner of war enclosure the soldiers turned, kissed their families farewell and marched behind the barbed wire.

"A Kiss From Betty"

"A kiss from Betty" sounds enticing—but along the battlefield it means something mighty unpleasant to the "jumping Doughboys."

One who had "a kiss from Betty" and survived is Private Edward Maynard of Detroit, Mich. He and seven other paratroopers stumbled into a garden of "Bouncing Betty" anti-personnel mines, those delicate Nazi creations which are tossed into the air by one explosion charge and then a second burst spread scores of deadly steel balls over a wide area.

In a period of a few moments ten of these mines were set off. One struck Pvt. Maynard squarely in the mouth—that was his "kiss from Betty" but it, like the others, failed to explode although they were tossed from 15 to 20 feet in the air.

The U. S. Navy is using searchlights so powerful that they can shoot a beam of light through 23 miles of inky darkness.

OKINAWA FIRST "HOME" ISLAND OF JAPS TO GO

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Uncle Sam's amphibious invasion of Okinawa means that we actually have boarded one of the Mikado's "home" islands, only 325 miles from the royal palace—a sensational event whatever way you look at it and one which we have achieved much sooner than we had any right to expect.

That's the most significant aspect of this biggest operation of its kind seen thus far in the Pacific war. Of course, Okinawa also is of vast strategic importance, but what rings the bell is that we've flung an army of some 100,000 into a heavily populated section of Emperor Hirohito's domain. That's enough to make us divide our attention for a bit between tottering Germany and the Japanese.

Some of you may recall that on March 19 this column called attention to the likelihood of a fresh invasion of Jap territory. Well, Okinawa was what I had in mind, since it was clearly marked for the kill by the tremendous aerial bombardment it had been getting—but we weren't supposed to give a name to it at that stage of operations. The fact that all this time has been devoted to intensive preparation speaks loudly of the strength of the position and the dangers of invasion.

Landing Cost Light
Out easy landing is indeed a happy surprise. With little cost in casualties our infantrymen and Marines quickly established a substantial beachhead, captured two or more airfields and overran a dozen villages. Dispatches indicate, however, that we shall be unwise to take this as a measure of the fighting to come. Jap forces on Okinawa are estimated at from 60,000 to 100,000 and the big island is heavily fortified. Therefore we must expect fierce resistance of the usual Nipponese fanatical type.

Okina is about 67 miles long and varies in width from three to ten miles. It has a population of close to half a million, and so far the first time we shall have a chance to see how a large Japanese civilian population will react to invasion—in a way a preview of what we shall meet when we invade the main Japanese islands.

Treasure Island For Us
Okina is an important naval and air base. It has numerous useful ports and the towns are linked by steam and electric railways. In short it is a veritable Treasure Island for us—or will be when we have finished the job of subduing it.

It will give us virtual control of the East China sea, and that means access to southern China. Also, Japan will have increasing difficulty in maintaining communications with her armies in southern China and with Formosa and transporting raw materials from China to Nippon.

Last—but far from least—this island will be an invaluable asset to us as an advance base when we are ready to invade the Japanese mainland. Meanwhile Okina's airports will make it much easier for us to fling our bombers at the mainland, and its ports will vastly facilitate the operation of Allied naval forces in neighboring waters.

YANKS' TOLL OF JAPS MOUNTS

Manila, April 2 (AP)—American troops, clearing the Japanese out of the Philippines on a dozen fronts, counted 10,971 additional enemy dead in the last five days.

This brought Japanese dead for the entire Philippines campaign to some 307,000—against an announced American toll of dead, wounded and missing of around 30,000.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Monday communique, reporting the five-day count, said 185 Japanese were captured. American losses for the period were given as 340 killed, 48 missing and 919 wounded.

American gains on all fronts were announced.

Japanese counterattacked elements of the 25th Division in stubborn fighting on northern Luzon but were beaten off.

Thirty-Third Division troops, pushing towards the Philippine summer capital of Baguio in the Benguet mountains, advanced two miles from Naguilan to the outskirts of Burgos.

On Negros island, invaded Thursday, 40th Division doughboys approached the outskirts of Talisay and the Talisay airstrip.

On Cebu, the Americal Division advanced five miles on the coastal road from Lahog to Consolacion against moderate resistance.

Uniform Interest Rate In Force Now

Adams county banks today began a uniform policy of the payment of one per cent interest on savings accounts and certificates of deposit, in accordance with a policy announced March 1.

A number of the county banks already had begun the practice prior to the announcement last month. Before the reduction an interest of one and a half per cent had been the general payment.

Second Marriage

Chapter 25

Edris followed Cynthia upstairs. She had been subdued since her outbreak, a good little girl, too pale and thin but methodical about her small duties. Now she was trembling again. Her teeth clicked together.

"Don't send me away with Aunt Maud. Oh, mother, I couldn't bear it."

Cynthia laughed though she had never felt less like laughter. Edris and her histrionics were sometimes funny, sometimes tiresome.

"Don't worry about it, darling, not unless the Japs really come—"

"But if they did come you'd go with us, wouldn't you, mother? You wouldn't stay here."

Cynthia paused, it was too fantastic to be talked about, certainly not to a nervous child.

"They won't come," she said quietly. "Anyhow, they're already here, aren't they? Thousands and thousands like Hamuri whom you've known for years. You wouldn't be afraid of Hamuri, would you. He made your little herb garden and showed you how to make sweet pea grow and bloom."

"Yes, he did that," Edris stammered, lowering her eyes. "I'm not afraid for myself, mother. It's for you. When you're not here I think such dreadful things. I can't bear for you not to be here."

Cynthia gave her a long look. Something struggled in her mind, an answer to that unpredictable part of Edris which she didn't understand. A shadow flitted behind the child's eyes and disappeared.

"There was Vera whom she hadn't understood, who was like a stranger."

"Darling," she said and drew the frail body down beside her. "Why must you always be so close to me? What are you afraid of?"

Edris shook her long blonde hair. "I'm not afraid of anything except that I'll lose you, or you'll stop loving me."

Cynthia laughed, genuinely this time. "I couldn't do that. You're my own little girl, my baby. I've got to love you. I couldn't stop if I wanted to."

"That's all I ever want. Just to be yours and for you to be mine, mother."

Even while Cynthia petted her she was thinking "Doctor Harlow. He'll know what I must do. He'll know a psychologist—somebody who has studied children." It appalled her to realize how little she knew herself.

"Mother will you move your things back to your old room so we can be together? I'll give you all the best bathroom shelves—"

Cynthia jumped up so suddenly that Edris was almost tumbled on the floor.

"Don't be silly," she said sharply. "This is my own room. It always will be." She added slowly, distinctly, "Carey's room, too, when he comes."

The telephone rang sharply and her heart turned over when she heard Carey's voice, even and undisturbed as if she hadn't run away from his dreary little room and left him without an answer.

"You might have made the bed and washed your cup before you ran out on me." That was what he was saying. "Maid service isn't included in this apartment house."

They were gay enough and there was no sign that one had hurt the other.

"You were smart getting out," Carey went on. "There are better places. Brandy's house is one. It's all sunny over there. Haven't you any curiosity, woman? Joan has a girl."

She murmured something he didn't hear. Why should a Brandon baby matter to them? "Coming out this week end, Cynthia? You're unpredictable about making up your mind. You'll have to come if you want to see me."

The lightness had gone out of his voice. It had never really belonged.

"No," she said, and her own was contracted. "Not this week end. I have to see a doctor and it will be a Sunday appointment—"

"A doctor—"

"About Edris." Childish resentment prompted the rest of it. "The Brandon family will be enough—without me."

"I see." Now he was amused. "Are you jealous, just a chance?"

She was jealous, just as poor, unhappy little Edris was jealous. She wanted all of him. She wanted to be with him and part of all he did. Astounded, she heard herself saying tensely, "Yes, I am jealous. I'm not satisfied with the little scrap of you mind or your heart that you give to me. You must love me in the way I love you—"

She dropped the telephone. Beyond him in a thin thread she heard the Brandon child crying and Ray's laugh. She had been saying these unspeakable things to the Brandon living room, scattering her precious love among babies and blue prints and technical magazines. And Carey had let her do this.

He didn't call her again.

The week slipped by and on Saturday she got an appointment with Dr. Harlow and told him the difficult story of Edris, more difficult than it sent feelers into her own life and she refused to think about.

Dr. Harlow was a tall man with a shock of black hair and an arrogant nose. His pince-nez bored into her mind and dragged her hesitating words to the surface with only an occasional question. Finally he said:

"You needn't tell me any more. I'm not an authority on psychoanalysis. Or a psychiatrist. Perhaps these processes are interchangeable. But I can send you to a man who knows all the answers. I'd advise you to let him teach you yours, Mrs. Winslow."

"Teach me?" Cynthia said. "It's Edris I'm concerned about."

Dr. Harlow gave her a searching glance and she thought of rapiers, but he said nothing until he had scribbled an address and telephone number of the back of his own card. Then his words came like hammer blows.

STRIKE THREAT BY MINERS PUT OFF FOR MONTH

Washington, April 2 (AP)—John L. Lewis dispelled the threat of a nation-wide coal strike today by a zero hour extension of the expired bituminous contract through April.

His action came after the War Labor Board ordered an indefinite continuance of the agreement beyond its Saturday midnight deadline with any wage adjustments to date from April 1.

The operators, who had asked for a 30-day limit on their retroactive pay obligation, agreed unconditionally to the board's order.

But Lewis, irked over the loss of retroactive wage increases in the seven-month controversy of 1943, imposed the until-May 1 only reservation on his acceptance.

WLB May Take Over

This set the stage for another possible crisis in a month, but both miners and operators were hopeful they could work out a new contract before then. Negotiators, who planned to resume their conferences today, reflected this optimism despite Lewis's statements at the WLB hearing on Saturday.

The UMW president told the board that a month of negotiating had failed to bring the parties together on any of his 18 demands, and that future meetings with the producers appeared fruitless.

However, Lewis agreed to further conferences "out of courtesy, if nothing else," when Edward Burke, representing the Southern Coal Producers' association, suggested that some of the issues could be ironed out, thus narrowing the problems for the board to dispose of.

If today's conference should determine that further collective bargaining were hopeless, the WLB would be asked to take over the whole show in an effort to resolve the case by May 1.

Spokane, Wash. (AP)—When 350 children had filed to their seats in church, Dean Charles McAllister asked them:

DEDUCTION

Sidney, Nebr. (AP)—A Californian who owns land in Cheyenne (Nebr.) county telephoned Attorney Pat Heaton and asked him if oil had been struck near Sidney.

Heaton told him he didn't hear about it, "and why?" the land-owner explained he couldn't account for the high figure he had been offered for his land—unless oil had been discovered on his property.

SUGGESTION

Camp McCoy, Wis. (AP)—Sgt. Ernest Hachka of the Camp McCoy chemical warfare branch says he has the answer to a major problem—easy going for expectant fathers. Just sleep through it all.

Hachka administered chlorine gas tests to several hundred Army Nurse Corps recruits and the effects put him to sleep. He awoke to learn his wife had given birth to a son.

Man Who Heard Lincoln Here Dies

Easton, Pa., April 2 (AP)—David W. Nevin, 91, former mayor of Easton, who witnessed the delivery of Abraham Lincoln's famous Gettysburg Address, died Saturday at his home.

A graduate of Lafayette college in 1875, Nevin pioneered in electric railway development, organizing the first company in this city. During his two terms as mayor, he developed many large sections of the city and presented it with Riverside and Nevin parks.

Nevin, a brother of the late composer, George B. Nevin, is survived by a widow and three sons.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, April 2 (AP)—The walkie-talkie of the war—that compact lightweight device which makes any G.I. his own radio station—is to get every chance to make good in a multitude of peacetime roles. That's why, Commissioner E. K. Jett said in a week-end CBS broadcast, the FCC set up for it the Citizens Radio Communications service in the recent high frequency allocations.

What's more, Jett added, this service is to be "thrown wide open to any citizen after the war, whether he be an individual who may want a portable suitcase-type set for his own purposes, or whether it is a department store, taxicab firm, farmer, or anybody else."
